

“We appreciate Z-ink! Zuzana (Z, as I call her) has helped our business look good for years, reviewing projects like training manuals, expert articles, and marketing letters. When I wrote The Echols Files: Catoosa County Justice, the decision to work with Z was easy. She ensured that the content was smoothly organized for readers, that there were no errors in grammar or structure, and that the layout of the book fit the parameters needed for publishing. Her work added tremendous value and made the process of finalizing my book nearly effortless for me.”

*The Echols Files: Catoosa County Justice* recounts the intrigue and corruption involved in the most significant child molestation case in Georgia, a case that made national news.

Read how Eric Echols, working as the Private Investigator, uncovered a conspiracy, political influence, and injustice even as the local district attorney attempted to shut down his inquiries. In the end, Echols revealed the facts and helped clear defendant Tonya Craft, who was acquitted on all 22 charges against her.
